Essential workers, including people working in health care facilities, grocery stores and shelters, delivery and transit workers, as well as teachers and emergency personnel are facing the frightening possibility of infection while performing essential duties.

To do our part in the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic, the Bar Association of San Francisco and the Justice & Diversity Center are leading a group of Bay Area lawyers and organizations to provide legal help to essential workers in need. To help these workers protect themselves and their families, volunteer attorneys and experienced trust and estate lawyers stand by to help with emergency planning needs, including temporary powers of attorney, health care directives, and wills.
